Ein Plädoyer für die Zukunft der Wälder - Traumhafte Bilder einzigartiger Lebensräume Wälder. Sehnsuchtsorte ohnegleichen. Die Natur hat die geheimnisvolle Welt der Wälder in einer geografisch und klimatisch erstaunlich angepaßten Vielfalt erschaffen. So reicht der Variantenreichtum der Wälder vom sagenumwobenen deutschen Wald, über faszinierende Birken-, Bambus- und Kakteenwälder, die artenreichsten tropischen Regenwälder Amazoniens, bis hin zu den bizarren Wäldern auf den zerklüfteten Felssäulen des chinesischen Zhangjiajie National Forest Park. Und ebenfalls wie nicht von dieser Welt: Die alienartig aussehenden Kelp-Unterwasserwälder vor der kalifornischen Küste, in denen sich Robben vor Haien verstecken. Doch aller Vielfalt und Schönheit zum Trotz gibt es auch große Probleme. Denn die Wälder unseres Planeten sind nicht nur existenziell wichtige Überlebensräume, sondern sie werden auch vom Menschen exzessiv ausgebeutet. Während Tiere und Pflanzen seit Jahrmillionen in Harmonie darin leben, plündert der Mensch den Wald hemmungslos aus und vernichtet immer mehr von dessen Flächen.

Dieser handliche Bildband mit erstmals in Buchform veröffentlichten Aufnahmen ist nicht nur ein wunderbares Geschenk für jeden Waldfreund, sondern auch ein Plädoyer für die Zukunft der Wälder als einzigartige Lebens- und Erholungsräume.

A plea for the future of forests - Stunning pictures of unique habitats Forests. Places of longing like no other. Nature has created the mysterious world of forests in an astonishing variety adapted to geographic and climactic conditions. The variety of forests ranges from the legendary woods of Germany to fascinating birch, bamboo and cactus forests, the tropical rainforests of the Amazon with their incredible species diversity, the bizarre forests on the rugged rock columns of the Chinese Zhangjiajie National Forest Park. Another environment that is not of this world is the alien-looking underwater kelp forests off the coast of California, where seals hide from sharks. But despite all this diversity and beauty, there are also major problems. The forests of our planet are not only existentially important places. They are also excessively exploited by humans. While animals and plants have been living there in harmony for millions of years, Human beings plunder the forest without restraint and are destroying more and more of its area.
